TENDERS INVITATION

MISS PENN OF SUSSEX, ENGLAND, INVITES GLENDALE BOYS TO VISIT HER

The following letter, of interest to the many friends of Miss M. M. Penn, a former resident of Glendale but now of Five Ashes, Sussex, England, cordially inviting any American soldier furloughed in England to visit her home, "Pasadena," is published for the benefit of all whom it may concern. The clipping referred to in the letter is as follows:

"BLIGHTY" FOR AMERICANS
From Our Own Correspondent
New York, Saturday.

The desire of the American troops in France to use Great Britain as "Blighty" causes special satisfaction here. Many thousands of American soldiers will thus be sent across the Channel, where their impressions will have a lasting effect. No other "Blighty" could have the same effect upon Americans, and no development of the war suggests to Americans happier possibilities for the future.

May 27th, 1918.

Editor, Glendale Evening News:
Dear Sir:

The enclosed cutting from today's "Daily Mail" makes me write at once the letter which, for some time, I have contemplated writing.

This letter carries with it a special invitation from "The Penns" to any Glendale boy who gets a pass for "Blighty" and who would like to spend a few days of his leave in a Sussex country village.

We are 42 miles from London and about 20 from Eastbourne, our nearest coast town, and it would be a great pleasure to us to welcome any of Uncle Sam's boys who may come from Little Old Glendale (our California home for so many happy years, 1885 to 1910). We read in our Glendale paper of the splendid war work being carried on there and it is so good to feel that America, too, is now an Ally.

Will you please find room in your paper for this short note and say that this invitaiton includes not only boys we may have known, but any boy who wants to talk about home to people who have been there.

A postal card or letter to the above address will get an answer whenever it comes.

With best wishes to all old friends and for the old "town."

Sincerely an old friend,
MINNIE M. PENN.

P. S. The Stars and Stripes will float with the Union Jack on Thursday next here at Pasadena.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY 4TH OF JULY CELEBRATION

The New England Society of California will observe the 4th of July with a grand patriotic celebration and picnic reunion at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. A fine program has been arranged with patriotic songs, music and addresses. This will be an all-day picnic with basket lunch at noon. Coffee provided upon presentation of badge. Bring cup, spoon and dinner. President Charles J. McCormick announces that this invitation is extended to all former New Englanders and descendants of New Englanders, their families and citizens of Southern California. Help us make this the great event of our Natal day in our Southland.

A new and interesting feature will be the registration system by which each county in each of the six states will have its own separate register and headquarters. Let the New England spirit have full sway and let us meet in a happy reunion.

RED CROSS FESTIVITY

Glen Eyrie Chapter of the Eastern Star is building high hopes on the fine entertainment which it will give Thursday evening for the benefit of the Red Cross in the Lodge Hall at the Masonic Temple. The excellent program has already been published so the public is informed of the treat in store. Following the program guests who enjoy cards will gather at the tables arranged for Five Hundred. The original plans did not include refreshments, but as several gallons of fruit juice left from the stocks of punch provided for the Tuesday evening street dance have been donated to the Stars, they have concluded to stretch their plans a little. They are naturally anxious that the receipts for the Red Cross shall be as large as possible and are reminding all their friends of this patriotic affair that the date, Thursday evening, may not escape their memories.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday. Cloudy near the coast. Continued warm in the interior. Moderate westerly winds.

BIG DEMONSTRATION

MANY MARCH IN LOYALTY PARADE—SOLDIERS ARE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

The big demonstration Tuesday evening to give the visiting soldier boys a happy evening and to stimulate patriotism and boost for the War Savings Campaign, was a tremendous success. The long lines of patriots represented enthusiasm and loyalty to the cause, and the street dance gave a royal good time to the boys in khaki. It was not expected that any of them would join the parade, so when the reporter spied the fine company of soldiers lined up for orders the captain was at once interrogated. His explanation was simple and most satisfactory: "You people in Glendale have done so much for us we wanted to march in your parade and so we have come voluntarily."

By six-thirty Tuesday evening all Glendale, seemingly, was streaming towards Central and Broadway where the units of the Loyalty Parade were to assemble. Citizens going west passed through the square on Broadway which had been roped off for the street dance and exclaimed with pleasure over its transformed appearance. From every electrolier waved palm fronds and flags with huge clustering bouquets of hydrangeas and Shasta daisies at the base. Ferns and flowers outlined the music platform, seats were invitingly placed against the walls of the buildings and it all looked very inviting. Mrs. Glenwood Jones was said to have been the directing genius assisted by city officials and employes.

The marchers were many and the parade made a brave showing. It and the dance were under the combined patronage of the Elks, the Red Cross and a citizens' committee which included some of the active workers in the War Savings Stamp Campaign.

First came the color guard, boys of the Home Guard from Casa Verdugo and Glendale, then the Sanitarium Band, in white uniforms, then about one hundred boys of the Texas Artillery and Coast Artillery from the Rifle Range, then the women and girls of the Surgical Dressings Department in Red Cross uniform, led by Mrs. C. L. Peckham carrying the flag, then the city officials with Mayor Woodberry and Trustee Muhleman leading and other officials and employes bearing the big service flag of the city, then nurses of the Sanitarium, then the Boy Scouts with drum and triangle, then the four divisions of citizens, carrying the Stars and Stripes and the flags of the Allies which, with the parti-colored gowns of the many patriotic women and girls in line gave color and variety to the scene. No one took time to count, but when they reached their destination at the High School, the campus in front of the main entrance where the exercises were held, was densely packed. The line extended for five blocks and in close marching order, four to six abreast.

"America," in the singing of which all joined, was the very proper beginning of the patriotic exercises. Then came the salute to the Flag, then the fervent speech by Mr. Frye of Los Angeles, who has a son in the service of his country at the aviation field in Memphis. The torrent of his vehement oratory was frequently interrupted by applause. He said in part:

"Your America and mine is at this particular moment facing her greatest crisis, the most tremendous issues in all history. If the enemy wins, that civilization of which America is so conspicuous a part may crumble away in the storm that is now sweeping Europe. Germany is a victor at this moment, but she will not always be a victor. The German teaching is: 'Blessed are the strong for they shall inherit the earth. The weak shall be swept out of the way.' It is the German teaching that the military organization is the highest form of human efficiency, that military necessity knows no law. If these things be true, then everything the German arms have done is splendid, the sinking of the Lusitania and the destruction and devastation of northern France are justified. But we are fighting because we know the German premise is absolutely wrong, because that mode of life is destructive and not constructive. We are fighting not because we hate the Germans, not for gain, not for glory, but to preserve the ideals for which our forefathers freely gave their lives. Think what would have been the result had Germany won because America remained neutral! It could have been nothing but the slavery of the entire world. Would not the riches of this great country have aroused the cupidity of triumphant Germany? How long do

During the engagement the Americans took six machine guns.

The action flattened out the apex of the German drive toward Paris.

In a desperate effort to retain the wood which is essential in the movement toward Meaux, the Germans had crowded the wood with machine guns.

One private brought in 5 German officers and 78 privates who had surrendered to him voluntarily after he had been captured by them. However, the Germans mainly fought desperately to the very last.

It is officially announced that an American unit has taken over another sector in German Alsace and repelled several small raids in that region.

"UNITED WE STAND"

WATCHWORD OF WOMEN AS VOICED AT ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF TUESDAY CLUB

Two hundred members and guests of the Tuesday Afternoon Club gathered at the First Methodist church Tuesday noon to enjoy their annual luncheon, which was served in the banquet hall by the Ladies' Aid Society of that church. Very pretty the long tables looked decked with Shasta daisies and ferns, the club colors, green and gold featuring the dainty tulip-shaped baskets at each place which held the confectionery.

The platform, used later when members were called together for a business session, was bright with color, the parti-colored flags of the Allies harmonizing beautifully with the hollyhocks and the carmine-and-gold cannas which sheathed supporting pillars.

It is a very social club in spite of the fact that it is big numerically, and the buzz of conversation which commenced when the ladies began to assemble never slackened except when members were called to order by the president,, Mrs. W. W. Ramsay, who presided at the table of honor at which officers and speakers were seated, and later upon the platform at the business session.

After all had been seated and before the serving began, Mrs. E. H. Willisford invoked a blessing upon the club and upon those dear to its members who are serving the cause of liberty on the battle front, with a prayer that speedy victory may come to them and to us.

The three-course dinner was delicious and all that it should be for such an occasion. The participants were in a mood to respond to any appeal to their patriotism. When therefore at a signal from the president a beautiful new service flag was unfurled bearing stars for the loved ones in service who are kin to members of the club, and when a touching poem to the mothers written by Mrs. Genevieve Goss was read, it touched a deeply responsive chord. The names of the men for whom the stars had been placed and of their wives or mothers, were read amid a deep silence broken only by the rising and standing at attention of each wife or mother when her name was called. On the list were the following names:

Douglass Balthis, son of Mrs. F. S. Balthis.

John T. Beach, son of Mrs. A. W. Beach.

John A. Bertelson and Harold Bertelson, sons of Mrs. H. F. Bertelson.

Roger Brown, husband of Mrs. Roger Brown.

Earl X. Brown, son of Mrs. V. Price Brown.

A. Dana Burket, son of Mrs. C. W. Burket.

H. D. Charlton, husband of Mrs. H. D. Charlton.

F. A. Conrad, Gerald J. Conrad, James L. Conrad, sons of Mrs. Jesse Joseph.

James W. Gibson, son of Mrs. Dora Gibson.

Corporal George Grist, son of Mrs. Charles Grist.

Frank Hester, son of Mrs. Frank Hester.

Dr. R. C. Lane, First Lieutenant, husband of Jessie S. Lane.

Sergeant H. A. McElroy, son of Mrs. W. W. McElroy.

William Mandery, son of Mrs. Mary Frohock.

George Alexander Mitchell, son of Mrs. Alexander Mitchell.

William Nash, son of Mrs. William F. Nash.

Donald Packer, son of Mrs. Stephen Packer.

A. F. Patterson, son of Mrs. Minnie Patterson.

Harold Preeman, son of Mrs. Richardson D. White.

Omar B. Richardson and Elkanah W. Richardson, sons of Mrs. Ella Richardson.

John Stauffacher, son of Mrs. J. W. Stauffacher.

Charles Shropshire, son of Mrs. Mary E. Shropshire.

Robert Wattling, Edgerton Wattling and John Wattling, sons of Mrs. C. E. Wattling.

Rev. E. H. Willisford, husband of Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

The club then stood and sang one verse of "Onward, Christian Soldier," after which the president introduced Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the District Federation, as the after-dinner speaker of the day.

Mrs. Jones took as her theme: "The Opportunities and Privileges of Club Women," saying: "The opportunities and privileges of club women have never been broader or greater or more worth while than now. Federation means world-wide service in which there are no limitations of creed. It means conservation of the home, conservation of life, conservation of all things good and beautiful that are prime factors in service

THE PATHOS OF WAR

LETTER FROM FRENCH WIDOW ACKNOWLEDGES REMITTANCE FOR HER FATHERLESS BOY

A husband and wife in this city who are modest and who prefer to remain unhonored and unsung, instead of giving Christmas presents to each other last December decided to adopt a French orphan and pledge a certain amount monthly for the support of such a child. Accordingly they visited the French Relief headquarters in Los Angeles. They were asked if they desired, as so many did, to select a child old enough to write letters to them. They assured the officials that was quite immaterial and so they were assigned a little boy but four years of age who had been passed by because he was so young. Ever since that time they have been sending monthly remittances and last week they received a letter from the mother of the boy, who was widowed in 1914 and left penniless with three young children. It was a very pathetic letter, in French, which has been translated. When read to the employes in the large establishment in Los Angeles where the Glendale recipient of the letter is empolyed, a subscription to send 50 francs was immediately started which went "over the top," reaching a much larger sum, which was forwarded Saturday.

The letter has been given to this paper for publication without the names of the parties to whom it was addressed, and follows:

(Translation)

Dear Sir:

I have received a postal order for forty-five francs destined to my little Simeon, age 5 years.

I desired very much that it had been him who had written this letter to thank you for so much kindness. If he can not do so he well knows that we have far-away friends, dear friends, in every respect.

He will not forget because everything he hears he is able to remember very well in his little head.

Your generous help is of great assistance to me. I have three children and no income. The horrible war has taken it away from me but God in his mercy does not forget those who suffer for a good cause.

He died in an attack at Mont-Saint-Eloi (Pas de Calais) on December 27, 1914.

My little Simeon sends to you his most affectionate caresses.

Receive with the expression of my deep gratitude my respectful salutations.

DEFEATED BUT NOT DAUNTED

Los Angeles Lodge No. 99 met and defeated the local five last night, the home team taking two out of three games, and by so doing crept within one game of the top, which is still occupied by the Glendale team.

With a score of 1001 for the first game, No. 99 broke all season's records. Glendale, undaunted, came back and took the second by the scant margin of seven pins. The third game went to Los Angeles, 974 to 906, due mainly to the fact that Alf. McKenzie, owner of the alleys on which the games were rolled, went "crazy" and shot 270—within 30 pins of a perfect score. The fact that Glendale lost should not discourage their friends as their performance last night shows them capable of doing better each time out. Their next game is at San Bernardino July 6th.

The scores are below.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1918

IT IS A MAN'S JOB

The third day of the War Savings Stamp Drive is on. All precinct captains and workers are required to report tonight to Mr. Harry L. Howe the success of their first efforts. He will collect the pledge cards, collected up to date and send them to the County Central Committee for tabulation. This eliminates the possibility of duplication. The County Central Committee in turn distributes the pledge cards to the places indicated where purchases are to be made, so that sufficient supplies may be on hand, for many are buying in June.

The response so far in Glendale has been pleasing, but not overwhelming. Many people, who could well afford to buy more, continue to look on the Stamps as a children's proposition and pledge small amounts. This campaign will serve one purpose, at least. It will serve to inform such citizens that furnishing $2,000,000,000 to build ships is no child's game and that every man, woman and child must get behind that proposition to the full extent if we make a success. It can not be a proposition of "Let George do it" and in this case pick on the George's aged five to fifteen. It is a man-sized job to equip a fleet to move five million men and it needs man-sized pledges.

Pershing has said that he will begin to DRIIVE when he has four million men. Every cent we hold back, holds back that drive. The responsibility is ours and it is a responsibility that can not be dodged. The W. S. S. money goes to buy a definite supply; it serves a definite purpose and every time any one says, "I let my children buy stamps, I guess they will continue to buy with their savings," that man or woman is morally responsible to our Allies as well as this nation for any delay in bringing the war to a successful close.

THRIFT DEMONSTRATION

you think she would have withheld her hands from such a prey?

"Every boy who goes forth goes to fight for this country. What does that stalwart soldier go for if not to die for you and me? You can not guarantee to him a safe return. But your government guarantees to you the safe return of every dollar of the money you loan to it. When the soldier goes forth he has a right to expect that you and I who stay at home will furnish him with the best of guns, the best of ammunition, the best of everything that will contribute to victory. When the supreme hour comes and your boy or my boy is commanded to go over the top amid bursting shells, poison gas and liquid fire, what chance has he for his life, what chance for liberty has America or the world? The only chance he has is that you and I who remain here will supply him with the best of ships, the best aeroplanes, the best clothing, the best of everything and fortify him by our confidence, our support and our love. That is where you and I come in. You are now in the midst of a War Savings drive for $2,000,000,000 and it is your duty and my duty to support the boy who is going to fight. If you have not already signed a pledge, go and do it now. There isn't any halfway place between victory and defeat.

"We have wondered whether we had boys today who are the equals of the boys of our heroic past, but the experiences of the last few years have answered that question and we can now say to these boys: 'You are worthy of your sires. You have caught the radiance of their glorious deeds and though it may be your lot to die in unmarked graves in a foreign land, nevertheless the memory of your deeds will live forever and you will have become immortal.'

"This war is a direct attack on the principles embodied in the Declaration of Independence, the most sublime document ever adopted by a great people. It is the chart and compass of all human rights.

"Out of this war will come a new alloy of patriotism, for in the melting pot will be fused together the hearts of men and souls of every tongue and kindred. There will be wrought a new page in history. We will come out of this struggle a new America. The broken hearts of mothers, the stricken souls of widows, the tears of orphaned children will all be given that America may not fail in her duty to keep the world safe for freedom.

"We must play our part in this struggle; there must be no slackers among us because it is your duty not for yourself alone but for your children and your children's children. That old flag to which we have sworn allegiance is the symbol of all we are and all we hope to be. It means free hands, free lips, self government and the sovereignty of the individual. It means the perpetual right to peaceful vocations, it means that every citizen must be protected at home and on every sea. It means that every distinction based on birth and blood has forever passed. It means there must be a legal remedy for every wrong. That flag was given to the air in the darkest days of the American Revolution. May you and I and every patriotic citizen realize that it is our duty and privilege to see that the Star-Spangled Banner shall continue to wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

Rev. W. E. Edmonds invoked a blessing upon our country, our President and his counsellors, and prayed for the safety and success of our armies and those of our Allies.

One verse of the "Star-Spangled Banner" was sung by the assembled people, there was a rifle salute to the flag, and the audience was dismissed.

It gravitated quite naturally to the social center at Broadway and Brand where the dance was to take place. There the committees responsible for the entertainment at once got busy. At the head of the men's reception committee was Mr. Woodberry, president of the City Council, and assisting him was a long list of citizens. Mrs. Woodberry headed the long line of hostesses. The executive committee, which had general charge of the whole affair, was headed by Mrs. Harry Duffield assisted by Harry Lynch, of the Department of Service, and included R. M. Jackson, Secretary of the Glendale Elks' Lodge, Arthur Dibbern, Mrs. Jack Boettner, Chairman of the Red Cross Shop, and Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones, who planned the decorations. James Neill was the Grand Marshal of the dance and had able assistants.

Arrangements for the serving of punch had been made by the committee of which Mrs. Florence Wintersgill was chairman, and here Mrs. Eva Tuft, Chairman Surgical Dressings Department of the Red Cross, who is always ready to meet a need, came to the assistance of the committee and stood all the evening handing cups of punch to thirsty soldiers, always with a cheery word of greeting which made them feel that Glendale is home for the time being. Girls of the Service Club who are working in the Surgical Dressings Department and who carried the Red Cross flag in the parade, also helped in the serving of punch. These same girls turned in to the treasury of the Red Cross $65 in money which was tossed into the flag by spectators as they marched along.

The very great success of the dance was obviously due to the musicians, who freely and gladly gave their services throughout the evening as players of the piano, drum, traps, ukulele, saxophone and trombone. The list included Miss Clara Pearson and Messrs. Leo Goode, Allen McKenzie, Linn Keyes and I. S. Brown.

There is no question about the enjoyment of the soldier guests or of those who helped give them a good time. Glendale has made a new record in civic hospitality.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 26.—The famous personage who "sang a song of sixpence" and then baked four and twenty blackbirds into a pie and thought it was great stuff, wasn't such an old nutty as many thought him to be. In fact, he was an epicure, according to George Neale of the state fish and game commission. "Eat blackbirds and save meat," Neale advised today. "As a table bird they are excelled by few others. They are not costly to shoot as they travel and feed in large bands and many birds can be killed with a single load of No. 9 shot. The young birds are now able to fly and are tender and delicious to eat. In many of the southern states it is necessary to protect blackbirds because the epicures realize the table qualities of this bird. In game districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3, which comprise most of California except the most southern counties, blackbirds may be killed at any time and in any numbers. No license is required to hunt them."

MODESTO, Cal., June 26.—The board of supervisosr of Stanislaus county has passed an ordinance prohibiting smoking in grain fields, warehouses or other places where grain is stored or growing.

MODESTO, Cal., June 26.—Arrangements are under way between the Elks Lodge of Modesto and navy recruiting officers for the enlistment of the Elks band of 16 pieces in the navy as a naval musical unit.

HOLLISTER, Cal., June 26.—At the request of the government, the Boy Scouts of Hollister are compiling a report on the number of black walnut trees in this vicinity. Black walnut is needed for airplane manufacture.

TULARE, Cal., June 26.—The Y. M. C. A. camp which was to have opened June 26 at Lake Sequoia, has been postponed until July 9 and will remain open until July 28, it has been announced by the local committee in charge.

Dr. George L. Wallace of Rentham, Mass., has been engaged by the state to superintend the construction and establishment of the proposed state hospital for feeble minded. Sites in Orange, San Diego and Santa Barbara counties are being considered.

JUST A WORD FOR THE POSTMAN

When you are making your W. S. S. pledges and you are asked, "Where will you buy?" don't say, "I don't care." Just say straight out, "From my postman, of course." This does not interfere with the Boy Scouts or any other organization getting the credit. These organizations will supply you with cards on which to notify the postman which day to call and he will be there with the stamps, and he, too, will get credit for his share.

That is the point. The postman is there, Johnny-on-the-spot, every day. He is a servant of Uncle Sam and we can't tip him for his service and we seldom even think that we owe him a "Thank you," but if it helps him to buy from him, if it brings his record a little higher to buy from him, let us show this small appreciation.

Think what the spectacle of cheerful giving means to the enemy.

Personals

Mrs. D. H. Johnson has gone to Balboa for a month or more.

Many friends will regret the removal of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Beckman and family from Glendale. They leave Friday for Long Beach after a three years' residence in Glendale at 447 Belmont street.

The Dodge family, of 101 South Central avenue, has gone to Santa Monica for the summer. Fred Dodge, who is a sophomore in the High School, has been engaged to play the drums in the Dome Orchestra there.

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson has received messages from her son E. W. Richardson of Co. B., Military Police, at Camp Lewis that would indicate he is about to leave on the trip overseas.

Miss Mary Blackburn and her Sunday School class of girls in the First Methodist Church are having a picnic today (Wednesday) at Brookside Park. They took lunches, bathing suits and tennis rackets and will undoubtedly have a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Caldwell and daughters, Eunice and Agnes, have rented for one year their home at 1417 Myrtle avenue and left Monday by auto for Twin Falls, Idaho, where they will camp for a while. Later in the season they expect to locate somewhere in the State of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Daniels and daughters Marie and Edith, of Boston, Massachusetts, have been guests in the home of Victor W. and Miss Eva Daniels. After a hurried inspection of some of the sights of interest, Mr. Daniels returned to Boston leaving his wife and daughters to spend the summer in Glendale.

Dr. Harry V. Brown of 111 Central avenue, vice-president of the State Board of Medical Examiners, is attending the June meeting of the State Medical Board, which is being held this week in San Francisco. His mother, Mrs. Esther Brown, has gone to Ontario for a three months' visit with her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Webber.

Little Robert McCourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McCourt of 110 South Central avenue, is suffering from an accident which occurred recently. He was swinging from rings suspended by ropes in his back yard. One of the ropes broke and he fell, spraining his ankle quite badly. Mr. McCourt and his daughter Maria are spending the week in San Francisco.

Friends of Ralph Tipton, who has been at the Officers' Training School at Kelly Field, the big Texas aviation camp, will be glad to know that he has received a commission as Second Lieutenant, and that he has been made instructor there. Ralph, who is just twenty-one and who was one of the most popular boys in Glendale, has a host of well wishers here who will rejoice in his promotion from the ranks.

Workers are greatly needed at the Conservation Department of the Junior Red Cross, which has its headquarters on Broadway opposite the fire house. Garments are accumulating rapidly as a result of the weekly collections, and unless help arrives the committee will be snowed under. An appeal is being made for needlewomen to come afternoons from one to 5 o'clock to mend clothing or to iron articles which have been laundered and returned rough dry.

The following is the list of characters which are to appear at the Masonic Hall in Glendale next Saturday evening at 8:30: Historical, of our own United States, and patriotic progress; The Evolution of Americanism; An Indian Maid; A Quaker Maid; A Spanish Senorita; A Colonial Dame; Betsy Ross making the first American flag; Dolly Madison, the first lady of the land who discards the colonial wig, etc.; A Miss or "Liberty Belle" of 1870; Three Girls of Today; The Goddess of Liberty; a spectacular dance of the Red, White and Blue under fire; An Angel of Mercy; The Greatest Mother in the World; a dance of the Stars and Stripes' victory, gloriously done by Gwendoline Brooks, Columbia by Miss Shindler. Admission, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

to humanity. Our government has recognized us as a force and called upon us to stand behind it in this time of need and it is a thing we must keep ever in the foreground in club work. We must keep our educational work along governmental lines if we are to co-operate successfully in the great service required of us. We must aim for betterment all along the way, in our civics work for child welfare, for prison reform, for the improvement of social and industrial conditions, and also in the departments of music, literature and art. We might call our Federation the great school for service; and as organized women we should do everything in our power to bring victory to the Allies, a great decisive victory. It is not always what we do but what is back of the doing. Seventeen thousand women are enrolled in our 164 clubs and they have made a wonderful record as shown by the reports at our last meeting. You would have thought there wasn't a single slacker in our women's clubs. We have a few, however, but I hope before the year is out there will not be a single club woman who would not be ashamed not to be an active working member of the Red Cross.

"The opportunity to provide furlough homes for our soldiers abroad when they are invalided, for which arrangements were made at the last meeting of the Biennial, is a great work which has been undertaken by women's clubs and which has the sanction of the government. It will be handled, as far as its funds are concerned, under government supervision.

"We must not fail in our educational work for, next to the press, the club forums are the greatest factor in moulding public opinion. They have sometimes been called 'the guardians of intelligence.' If we do not keep up to date, where will we be when the period of reconstruction begins? Let us look forward and set our mark high and see that our standard remains at the pinnacle. Then we will succeed in every way and be worthy of our organization and our country."

After a brief recess, members were again called to order in the banquet room and a program was enjoyed, following a business session. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones installed the officers elect with pretty and appropriate ceremonies.

Miss Susine Wessels, violinist, played the following numbers: Allegro by de Beriot; Canzonetta by D. Ambrosio, "The Broken Melody" by Van Beine, on the viola.

The Treble Clef, of the Music Section, sang "The Marseillaise."

Miss Ada Cheever read the playlet, "A Maker of Dreams," and as an encore gave by request "Encouragement" by Paul Laurence Dunbar.

The program closed with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

GLENDALE

It was the lovely month of May,
Kind Fortune led us here to stay,
These mountain views our sight regale,
I'm sure there is but one Glendale.

In Palm Beach we have felt its charm
Beheld the graceful cocoa palm;
But great attractions here prevail,
More genial climate has Glendale.

Familiar with Saint Augustine,
Throughout the year so fresh and green;
But here are mountains which avail,
Of priceless blessing to Glendale.

Here can the sentimental mind
Indulge and satisfaction find,
Observe their grandeur in detail,
Sierra Madre guards Glendale.

Look north, or east, or south, or west
Then tell me which you think is best.
The tongue or pen must always fail
Description of thy charms, Glendale.

We sought for climate far and near,
Resorts so famous, every year,
But this pure air we all inhale
Makes us appreciate Glendale.

We lived in cities by the Bay,
We loved to watch the tossing spray,
But scenery can never fail
To satisfy us in Glendale.

Here grandest views of mountain way
In all directions seen alway,
Their changing shades on hill and vale
Suggesting Paradise, Glendale.

GEORGE WATROUS,
Hotel Gray.

PARKERETTES

"I nothing seek to extenuate—or set down aught in malice."

Alarmed at the large presence of undigested citizen population now among us, and apprehensive of a rapid increase of that material in the near future, growing out of disturbed conditions in the war zones of Europe, a national organization has been formed to seize more quickly and more rapidly mold into Americans the masses now here and the others as they come. Due observance of our natal day and what it means would be a very useful lesson.

The house in West Torrington in which John Brown, the famous abolitionist, was born was destroyed by fire the other day, but that destructible tenement cuts little figure in the life and figuring of the man whose birthplace it was, for at last accounts his "soul was marching on." By the way, patriotism and loyalty of that day were measured largely by the "higher law." Obey God rather than man. This was Brown's attitude and it made him a rebel before the law and a traitor to the commonwealth of the State of Virginia. No other defense of Brown's Virginia invasion was ever made by himself or others except that "resistance to tyrants was obedience to God," the higher law, and with the Quantrell gang sacking Lawrence and pillaging the land in an effort to force slavery on the virgin territory of Kansas, why not give the slave propagandists a taste of their own medicine?

Not long ago in these items we commented on the cheerful pre-millennium sight of Bishops Leonard and Cantwell "marching along" in closest blest fellowship on union work intent, and suggested that they might have exchanged manuscripts and the union cause would have suffered nothing. A middle east paper in a city of 8000 population spoke thus of a very interesting local affair:

"Baccalaureate amenities were thus distributed before class of nine young ladies: Invocation, Father Brennan, of St. Josephus' Catholic Church. Address, Rev. Edward Saunders, concluding with a very earnest benediction by Father Schauer of St. Mary's Church."

"Behold how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

The Supreme Court by five to four seems quite anxious to divide with the late Chief Taney, of "Dred Scott" decision of never-to-be-forgotten, malodorous injustice, i. e., "That a colored man had no rights in this country that a white man was under any obligation to respect." It will be remembered that this decision created quite a disturbance, and the "5 to 4" above referred to may be loaded with far-reaching results equalling Dred Scott Taney. The 5 to 4 seems desirous to take up the Taney idea and run it on with the difference that they seem to put our children in the place of the old-time slaves. Congress, nearer the people than any old-time Taney or any 5 to 4 today Supreme Court, wisely passed a law to protect our children from a worse than Dred Scott condition and it is this law and protecting laws for enforcing it that the 5 to 4 court declares unconstitutional. If you don't believe this 5 to 4 decision would go "glimmering up the chute" aside that of Dred Scott, give the people a chance at it.

John Wesley very early denounced human slavery the "sum of all villainies," and hence it was easy for him to frame the rule that all who expected to hold membership in these societies must not do certain things, "The buying and selling of men, women and children for the purpose of enslaving them," was one of the first to feel the force of his powerful "thou shalt not." So powerful was the pro-slavery sentiment entrenched in the public mind of that early day that there was strife and contention over the interpretation of the rule, the civil courts in some cases holding that a violation of the rule could only result when you sold a man, woman and child into slavery. Above this fine hair-splitting theory the Wesley interpretation became dominant and caught up by the machinery of the Church and wrought out from minister to membership, it filled the army with soldiers to save the Union and destroy the "sum of all villainies" (slavery), has its grip on the throat of "Booze" and inspired from the same first cause is today grandly marching on shoulder to shoulder with the good, the loyal lovers of God and man and country for the overthrow of Kaiserism, the arch enemy of all these.

UNCLE SAM SPEAKS HIS MIND

At the present time the United States is engaged in the greatest war the world has ever known. This war will eventually be won by our men and arms over there, provided that the people here at home support them with all they can save and all they can give.

The German army is the greatest war machine that has ever been invented, perfected to the highest degree through autocracy. Great armies always flourish under autocratic governments. In democratic nations, by the very nature of the form of government, army organization is difficult. In a land whose constant ideal is the equality of mankind, it is difficult to make many minds agree. However we are organizing an army that will not only overcome this German machine, but wipe it from the face of the earth.

For four long years our Allies have been holding back the savage hordes of Huns that sought to break through and destroy the civilization of the world. It has not been easy for our Allies to hold fast. They have come to realize what it is to go without clothing, food and ammunition to the point of utter exhaustion. If they had failed, we might this very day be fighting hand to hand with the bloody Huns on our own soil. But as it is, the fighting front is still "over there" and we must go three thousand miles to protect our country.

This has necessitated the drafting of a million men, the construction of huge cantonments to house them while in training. This has necessitated the production and purchase of great quantities of food and clothing to equip them. But where is the money coming from to supply this equipment? It is coming from all of us, from you and me, every man, woman and child of us. It is OUR great opportunity to do our part in this great conflict. But money won't grow food to feed men and money won't save food. The United States has long been a nation of spendthrifts. Money has come easily and money has gone easily for luxuries and unnecessary articles that lasted but a moment.

We are not only in this war now, but we are in the war with all our resources to fight to a finish. So long as the war lasts, our problem is to turn people who have opposed militarism, and whose thoughts and ways are the thoughts of peaceful heedlessness, into an efficient fighting unit. We must make up what we lack in effective, autocratic organization by enthusiastic, voluntary co-operation.

Now is the time for the American people to save. For those who do not know how, the government is issuing family budgets with wise suggestions for the expenditure of the family income. No detail is too insignificant for consideration. Money must be saved, not to hoard but for the use of the government, to keep moving a steady flow of transportation of men and supplies, by auto, train and ship, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, from the United States to Europe, unceasing, to meet the demands of war.

In addition, France, Italy and England are in need of wheat and foodstuffs to feed their civilian population. It is the duty of the United States as an ally to furnish these supplies. But it takes ships to meet these needs. Germany's ruthless warfare on the sea had lessened the available tonnage by one third. Other ships must be built to take their places. But before even one ship can be built vast quantities of steel-making ores must be imported from Spain and South America. Thus the need for more ships. The government plans to meet all these needs and more, to build enough ships to make submarine warfare unprofitable through sheer inability to combat such numbers. This program of shipbuilding is via the short order route. It takes money to build ships and man them. No doubt you envy the man who is a shipbuilder. Have you ever considered that while few of us can be shipbuilders, all can be ship-buyers? The government expects it of us. Every twenty-five cent thrift stamp will put six rivets in a steel ship.

The government has already passed a law looking to the conservation of labor and men, whereby city and county administrations must get permits from the Federal Government for further bonding. This will stop promiscuous expenditure of money for unnecessary improvements. Further construction, even of roads already contracted for, can not go on without government authority. If U. S. can stop these civic bodies from spending money, why can't it stop citizens from doing so? It can, but it does not wish to take this attitude. U. S. desires the people to show enough patriotic sense of duty to back it up by saving money to LEND to the govrenment, to save on food so that the boys "over there" can be well fed, to save on clothing so that our men may be protected, but most of all to save so that the heart of every one of us will be in this fight so strong that we can not lose. Can we not in the immortal words of Abraham Lincoln "highly resolve" BY DEEDS NOT WORDS "that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth"?

A contract for the construction of the new balloon camp at Arcadia has been signed at Washington, and it is expected that work will be started at once. About $400,000 will be expended on the camp, according to the latest report.

HALT the HUN

Provide the boys with the things they need to make short work of him.

Help the boys get guns, clothes, aircraft, food, munitions and the ships to get over with. These are the things they need, and they cost money ---hunks of it.

Make Your Best Pledge to Buy War Savings Stamps Before June 28

The more quickly our soldiers have all the things they need, the more quickly the ships will be bringing them victoriously back to us.
